

1.2.4 Abrazare – Master #3 (more counter techniques)

- ❖ face/chin push and hip grab (agent) → elbow push & throw (counter)

The agent grabs the face, chin or nose of the master, the patient agent (wearing the crown and band) with right hand pushes off the face grab and continues pushing. The agent loses his balance and the patient agent grabs the agent's right leg with his left hand and facilitates the backward throw.

- ❖ neck grab (agent) → elbow compression and nasal push with boar's tooth (counter)

- ❖ face grab (agent) → eye compression with frontal guard (counter)

The agent grabs the patient agent's (wearing the band & crown) lower face with both hands. The patient agent counters with a frontal guard (posta frontale) with both hands and pushes the thumbs into the eyes of the agent and pushes towards the rear of the agent.
